

FOR YOUNG PARENTS

1. Center for Family Success-Baltimore County (Informational)

The Center for Family Success (formerly the Young Parent Support Center) is a comprehensive family support and development center that strives to strengthen families, promote the healthy development of children and guide families toward self-sufficiency and economic independence. It is a two-generation program that encourages a strong parent-child bond. All services offered are free. Phone: 410-853-3860.

2. Center for Urban Families

The Center for Urban Families is a non-profit working to empower individuals and families in Baltimore, Maryland, with the skills they need for long-term personal economic success. The Responsible Fatherhood Project is one of its successful programs that assist young fathers to connect with their children by assisting them with job readiness skills, child support management, and parenting skills.

3. Vehicles for Change

Donated vehicles to help individuals and families to achieve economic success and sustainability through transportation. Must meet eligibility requirements to qualify.

4. Baltimore Healthy Start

Promotes health and wellness for expectant and new mothers and their families. We offer home visiting services and center-based services.

5. Health Baby Baltimore

Provides free portable pack and play or cribs to promote safe sleep for babies to reduce infant crib deaths.

6. Child Care Scholarship

Program provides financial assistance with childcare costs to eligible working families in Maryland.

7. The Family Tree

A resource in Baltimore City for parents and families offering free programs and services such as support groups, parenting classes, and short-term drop-in childcare.